Domino launches Documents, an irregular new series of live studio recordings designed to capture the ever-evolving arrangements of their artists and their bands in high fidelity. Taking its inspiration from classic BBC sessions, each Documents release will be recorded in no more than a day or two at a world class studio in London.

The first official Documents release is «In The Same Room» by Julia Holter. The album is named after a song from Holter's 2012 album «Ekstasis», and this new career-spanning collection is the fruit of two days recording by Julia and her tremendous band (Corey Fogel - drums/vocals; Dina Maccabee - viola/vocals and Devin Hoff - stand-up bass) at RAK Studios in the days after their main stage performance at Green Man Festival in Wales.

Comprised of new arrangements of songs from all four of her studio releases to date («Tragedy», «Ekstasis», «Loud City Song» and 2015's breakthrough «Have You In My Wilderness»), Holter's Domino Documents is an essential release for anyone who has witnessed her brilliant, beguiling band on tour around the world in the last five years as well as the perfect introduction to a truly important and innovative young artist.

In the 15 months since «Have You In My Wilderness», Julia has gone from strength to strength, including playing the biggest headline show of her career in the UK last month - at London's Shepherd's Bush Empire - and scoring the soundtrack for the new Miles Teller film «Bleed For This».
