TAYMIR, the fiery, young group whose modern take on the 60's rock sound is garnering comparisons ranging from Arctic Monkeys to The Strokes, released their acclaimed debut full-length "PHOSPHENE" in their homeland of The Netherlands in late 2013.

In 2014, the group became a force in their home country and topped the Dutch airplay charts with their single "AAAAAH". TAYMIR was invited to open the prestigious London Calling Festival in Paradiso, Amsterdam as the only Dutch band on the bill. Last year, TAYMIR continued to build their astonishing live show performing at over 40 festivals, including the biggest Dutch festivals Down The Rabbit Hole and Pinkpop sharing the stage with international stars such as The Rolling Stones, Arctic Monkeys & The Black Keys.

At The Great Escape Festival (UK), TAYMIR teamed up with The Agency Group's Natasha Bent and David Swartz of Kosher Management, which opened the door to the international stage. This led to performing at European showcase festivals such as Berlin Music Week, Reeperbahn Festival, Waves, MaMa as well as two trips to the USA, playing Culture Collide, CMJ & SXSW.

December 2014 TAYMIR was selected to headline the CLUB NME party making a massive debut London headlining show at the renowned club KOKO.

In 2015, TAYMIR is ready for another exciting year with the German release of their debut single "AAAAAH" April 17th and full-length debut album "PHOSPHENE" May 15th with Sony International. May 8th TAYMIR will kick off their first European tour with 15 shows throughout Germany, Austria, Switzerland, United Kingdom and The Netherlands.

TAYMIR captures all of their adventures in 60 second updates on their Youtube channel.
