The ever prolific Melvins return with „Hold It In“, their first studio album as a quartet since 2010's The Bride Screamed Murder. Joining Buzz Osborne and Dale Crover for the 12-song album are Butthole Surfers' guitar player Paul Leary and bass player JD Pinkus. The album was recorded in both Los Angeles and Austin earlier this year.

"Paul is one of the best guitar players I have ever heard and Pinkus has an outside the box type of approach to both guitar and bass that you just have to let it ride. I can't believe this actually happened. I'm thrilled."

"It's very rare you get a chance to work with three folks from the 'Break A Wish' foundation, all at the same time," said Pinkus. "I believe they'll remember their experience with me forever (or until they finally all lose their fight with S.I.D.S)."

"Brass Cupcake is possibly my favorite track on „Hold It In“ We wrote this song with Pinkus and Paul in mind, once we knew this project was a go," explained Dale Crover. "It's our version of what we think pop music should sound like. Get ready to freak out!"
