

EUTROPIC

Eutropic are an analog synth-obsessed avant pop trio operating out of Bern, Switzerland. Their music explores human emotion through the prism of a high-resolution gradient. It draws from cold and new wave, several iterations of techno and classic 70s electronica. It's functional, yet introspective – full of nuance, detailed shadings, curious overlaps and idiosyncratic contradictions. Their debut record Dark Age Day Dream will be released this fall courtesy of Aztec Records UK.

Eutropic are: Dominique Hindermann (vocals, synths),
Sacha di Piazza (synths, drum machines), David Muther (guitars, synths).
